Real-world Knowledge

At the PDA training facility, appraisers undergo live estimate training and study examples of actual RV claims. The course includes hands-on RV inspection and a visit to a manufacturing facility so appraisers can see how these vehicles are constructed. To help contain costs and shorten the cycle time on each claim, PDA training emphasizes accurate invoicing and alternative parts usage (APU) educating appraisers on how to find the price of used parts immediately online, instead of waiting for RV dealers to quote OEM parts.

Be sure to assign your claim online for instant assignment to the nearest PDA recreational vehicle appraiser anywhere in the United States, or contact our Client Services Center.
